About Cards and Codes:

iTunes or Apple Music Gift Cards:

- When you redeem an iTunes or Apple Music Gift Card, the amount of credit on the card is added to the Apple ID that you use to buy items from the iTunes Store, iBooks Store, or App Store, or that you used when you joined Apple Music. You can use store credit for purchases that you make in any of the stores, towards your iCloud storage, or to pay for in-app purchases until it's gone. Apple Music credit is added to your Apple Music membership. If you choose not to apply your Apple Music Gift Card balance toward a membership, the amount is credited to your Apple ID like an iTunes Gift Card.
- After you redeem an iTunes Gift Card, your account balance automatically updates in the iTunes Store, App Store, or iBooks Store. You might need to sign out and back in to all of your devices for your credit balance to appear. You can find your balance underneath your Apple ID.
- After you redeem an Apple Music Gift Card, membership credit is added to the Apple Music membership that is linked to your Apple ID. Learn how to view information about your Apple Music membership.
- If you received an iTunes or Apple Music Gift Card through email, click Redeem Now in the email to redeem the credit.

Content and promo codes:

- You can redeem content and promo codes for specific items in the iTunes Store, iBooks Store, or App Store on your iPhone, iPad, or iPod touch.
- All content or promo codes can be redeemed in iTunes for Mac or Windows except codes that are specifically for the Mac App Store. Redeem Mac App Store content or promo codes in the Mac App Store. You can also redeem iBooks codes in iBooks for Mac.
